The Morehouse College Journalism and Sports Program along with the Office of Student Life will present a workshop entitled

THE BIG TRANSITION

FROM RACIAL MAJORITY TO RACIAL MINORITY

Tuesday, March 31

6-8 p.m.

Frederick Douglass Hall

Students will learn strategies they can implement to successfully transition to being racial minorities in graduate school or the workplace. Topics discussed will include:

- Racial, ethnic or gender stereotypes you are likely to encounter
- Coping mechanisms that will help you not only survive, but thrive
- Getting comfortable socializing with colleagues and peers different from you
- Conquering self-doubt
- How not to let your own baggage weigh you down
- 5 strategies for developing successful relationships in your new environment

Kevin Booker, Assistant Director of Student Life, and Ron Thomas, Director of the Journalism and Sports Program, will moderate the program.

PANELISTS

- Dr. Belinda White
  Assistant Professor
  Dept of Business Administration

- Illya Davis ’90
  Former Clark-Atlanta Philosophy Professor

- Dr. Bryant Marks
  Director, Morehouse Male Initiative
  Assistant Professor of Psychology

- Barbara Williams
  Spanish Instructor
  Dept of Modern Foreign Languages